

Calista Grand talks to our spa clients

Some look at a trip to the spa as an annual treat. For others, it is an essential ritual that they regularly schedule. Read on about how some of our clients enjoy our spa services.

by
Jennifer Campbell

Aimee Willis, a wife, mother of a toddler and expecting her second baby, is also a third year law student, and frequents Calista Grand for some much needed downtime, as well as basic beauty services. She thinks that Calista successfully starts the relaxation process through their surroundings before your service even begins. After descending the stairs into the spa area, Aimee says there is a definite “climate change” that you feel with the sound of the waterfall, the quiet hush of those around you, and the always perfect warm room temperature. She says Calista “sets the mood for an enjoyable and relaxing experience.”

“Whether you are spending $15 or $115, Calista’s staff goes out of their way to make sure you enjoy your experience.” From readily available snacks and drinks, to the luxurious pedicure thrones, every visit is a pleasure. “Even an eyebrow wax is a relaxing experience,” Aimee says, laughing.

She also greatly appreciates the beauty advice she gets from Calista’s spa staff members, Colleen and Gretchen, who recommend the right skin care products for Aimee’s needs, without the feeling of a sales pitch of any kind. During manicures, Anna, Marie and Veronica ensure that every nail receives proper time and attention. Aimee’s husband, Vince, enjoys Calista as well, particularly the skin exfoliating treatments.

Overall, Aimee believes that first — and last —